SITE DRAWING

Before your appointment:

Information you provide to us is valuable. It is necessary to provide accurate measurements of your site, along with photos. Use the grid on the following page as a reference when drawing your site.

- Begin at one side of the house, recording the distance of the first window or door opening.
- Next, measure the opening of the window or door.
- Continue across the building until the measurements of the entire structure near the project are recorded.
- Label all utilities within the project area: gas lines, telephone lines, cable tv, electrical lines.
- Label all household mechanical features located in the project area: air conditioning units, downspouts, dryer vents, hose bibs.
- Locate and label driveway and walkways, including distances from structure to paved areas.
- Locate and label any existing plants in the project area that will stay. (Use center of plant for accurate distance).
- Note the direction water drains off, land slopes or terraces.
- Label the North direction.
